Washington State Agency Cultural Resources Updates

Many Washington State agencies have busy and growing archaeology, cultural resources, and tribal relations programs that work to protect the places and things that connect Washingtonians to our past and our unique cultures, comply with state and federal law, and use taxpayer money wisely by avoiding loss of significant sites, resources, and buildings. These agencies have very different missions and mandates, as well as different roles and responsibilities under the Centennial Accord, Governor's Executive Order 21-02, RCW 27.53, National Historic Preservation Act, legislative mandates, and agency policy. This session brings together a variety of state agencies to share updates on their staff and how they are working to protect, manage, and learn from our archaeological, historic, and cultural resources.

Agencies & Presenters:

WA State Recreation & Conservation Office (RCO)

Sarah Steinkraus, Archaeologist/Architectural Historian

WA State Department of Archaeology & Historic Preservation (DAHP)

Virtual Participants: Please use the third and final Zoom Meetings link for the day for the afternoon sessions. No need to log out over the course of the afternoon.

A Continuing Conversation About Publishing & Reporting On Archaeological Work

Publishing and reporting on archaeological work is complicated. We began a discussion about this during the last Summit in May 2024. We heard from presenters and attendees who felt that publishing builds an academic knowledge base and guides cultural resources management; we also heard from attendees who feel that publishing is disrespectful to Tribal knowledge holders. We talked about accessibility of both academic publications and CRM reporting and responsible sharing or withholding of sensitive Tribal knowledge. This session will begin with a short, moderated panel discussion followed by Q&A and a plenary discussion. After a break at 2:45pm, we will gather with our Cohorts for some small group discussion around these topics.

Session Organizer: Amanda Taylor, Willamette Cultural Resources Associates

Panelists: Chris Bailey, Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde

Katy Leonard-Doll, Antiquity Consulting

Patrick McCutcheon, Central Washington University

Chat Box Monitor: Jennifer Horwitz, FEMA & Summit Agenda Planning Committee

Break (2:45 - 3:00 PM) – Virtual participants, no need to log out during our Breaks, but please remain Muted unless recognized by the Host or Chat Box Monitor.

3:00 - 4:00 PM Pacific Time – BLOCK #3 (continued)
Satellite Summit Cohort Discussions

Check your name badge or the Satellite Summit websites to gather again with your Cohort for some small group discussion around the publishing and reporting topics, as well as anything else on your minds after a day of agency updates and Satellite Summiting. We will save time at the end of the session for some reporting out.

4:00 - 4:30 PM Pacific Time – SATELLITE SUMMIT CLOSING

What'd We Learn? What's Next? ~~When's the Ferry?~~ How's Traffic on I-5?

In celebration of a 4th Annual & 3rd Hybrid Satellite Summit well attended, join in a final moderated discussion to review what we've learned from one another and look towards a more productive, hopeful future, as well as continued discussions at the 18th Annual Summit next May 21-22.

Thank your hosts, speakers, and sponsors, bid farewell to one another until next year, and please complete your Evaluation Form (included in your onsite registration packet and posted online on both Satellite websites). We truly value your input!

Thank you, again, for taking this virtual journey with us! Stay safe and healthy, and we'll see you at the 18th Annual Summit hosted by the Suquamish Tribe next May 21-22 and the 5th Annual Satellite Summit hosted with our first Consultant partner next October 8 (anticipated)!
